

ABOUT THE FIRM

The law firm of Stutheit & Gartland specializes in a) estate planning and probate law, with an emphasis on estate and trust litigation; b) residential construction and insurance law; c) employee rights law; d) unemployment hearings and appeals; e) slip and fall claims.

The law firm's regular clients include roofers, plumbers, electricians and engineers. We also represent several employers for all unemployment benefit matters. Our emphasis is on serving people more than companies.

The firm spun off in 1998 from a large Denver law firm where Brian Stutheit and Pat Gartland had been employed doing insurance defense, construction and estate and trust work for many years.

We understand and appreciate the value of thorough investigations and timely and pertinent reporting to clients so that they may make crucial case decisions.

ABOUT US

Brian K. Stutheit is a Colorado native. He has represented Commercial Life, Graebel Companies, Guidant Insurance Company, Hudson Insurance, Lloyd's syndicates, State Farm Insurance Company, and others.

Mr. Stutheit has received the rating of "AV" from fellow attorneys and judges, which is the highest rating possible in the Martindale-Hubbell nationwide lawyer directory.

Mr. Stutheit is a member of the Colorado and Jefferson County Bar Associations. He also participates in the Elder Law and Construction Law sections of the Colorado Bar.

Patrick Gartland now consults with the firm, but does not practice full-time. Mr. Gartland has two advanced degrees, in law and engineering.

RECENT CASES

The firm is representing a homeowner sued for selling a house with defects.

We recently concluded a complete and successful defense of an engineer and surveyor who were sued for negligence by the builder/developer.

We are managing mechanics lien matters for roofers, plumbers, homeowners and remodeling contractors.

In late 2015 we beat the Colorado Department of Labor in an unemployment tax case decided by the Colorado Court of Appeals.

We just settled a claim we brought on behalf of an Asian doctor for racial and ethnic discrimination.
